The Dumpling Trail

World renowned self-guided tour for your taste-buds! The Richmond Dumpling trail is a crispy, chewy, pot-sticking, pan fried, deep fried, soup stuffed, meat stuffed dumpling journey. Adopt pre-planned itineraries, or navigate yourself through over 20 eateries through an interactive map.

This culinary experience was rated one of “Twelve of the World’s most Enticing Foodie Trails” by CNN, and rated by dozens of other national and international publications.

Richmond Night Market

Richmond’s Asian night market showcases an amazing international cross section of culture and cuisine. Over 140 food vendors and 400 total exhibitors, this nightly weekend event is a festival for the senses.

Discover a world of delicious foods including spiral potatoes on a skewer, barbecued skewers of meat and seafood (including squid - a market favourite), hand-pulled ramen, mango desserts and drinks, dragon's beard candy, bubble waffles, and much more.

Retail vendors bring together some of the hottest items and most unique accessories - including jewelry, clothing, cell phone accessories and everything you didn't know you needed - at inexpensive, street-side prices. The Richmond Night Market also offers a diverse array of entertainment every night, ranging from live performances to carnival games.

The market generally runs May to October each year. The 2019 dates have not been released.

Highway to Heaven

Richmond's culturally diverse population is on display on No. 5 Road that has over 20 religious institutions including temples, mosques, churches and chapels. Within three kilometers, major centres of Buddhist, Muslim, Christian, Sikh, Jewish, and Hindu faith co-exist harmoniously. Many of these houses of worship welcome all visitors of any religion with open arms.

Four institutions stand out including the Tibetan Monestary, Jamea Mosque, Nanaskar Gurdikh Temple and International Buddhist Temple for their display of ritual, landscape, and architecture.
